Greetings Golfers,

This golf season is fading into bittersweet memory. We lost Arnie and fought through drought-like conditions in Southeast Michigan. On the positive side, we still enjoyed an American Ryder Cup victory and have a potential "Indian summer" opportunity for more golf.

Thanks to you, a record number of golfers completed our annual Customer Satisfaction Survey. Your insight guides the future direction of our operation. Radrick Farms can only get better with your input. While we have room to improve, we are very happy with the results of the survey. Over 95% of you indicated overall satisfaction with your interactions with the Radrick Team. While we have an amazing Pete Dye designed championship layout, it is our high quality team members that continue our history of excellence. I am proud to announce that one of those team members was just promoted.

For over ten years, Matt Weiland has been a Greenskeeper at Radrick Farms while continuing his education. After obtaining his Bachelor of Science degree from EMU, he began working towards his Master's degree in human resources and continues his education in agronomics as well. This season, he assumed a leadership role amongst our team and helped manage the cultural practices on the golf course. He applied for the Superintendent role during our national search and proved himself to be the best candidate for Radrick Farms. Please "welcome" Matt to his new role when you see him on the course!

Matt and the Maintenance Team finally have an opportunity to finalize the target green on the driving range and have begun prioritizing our off-season projects. In addition to tree work throughout the property, we plan to restore several bunkers. Danielle Sanna, our Clubhouse Manager, has begun planning projects for this off-season as well including upgrades to our on-line booking software. Expect great things next season when you return.

We have developed a draft of our 2017 calendar of events. Led by Danielle and Mark Rudy P.G.A., our Events Team looks forward to hosting exciting competitions as well as opportunities to further engage our passionate golf community. This past September, we were honored to host the East/West Challenge. This marquee NCCA Women's competition will most likely move when construction of UMGC's new Richard L. Postma Clubhouse is complete. To the numerous customers that volunteered this year, THANK YOU for being a part our long history of supporting amateur golf!

We look to forward to offering you a truly exceptional golf experience for the rest of 2016 and beyond,

Paul L. Scott II
